

Saturday 10/4 10:00 am - 12:00 pm

Let Art Talk: A Global Art Workshop for Families

lead by Fred Mutebi

South Dallas Cultural Center
3400 S Fitzhugh, Dallas
214-939-2787 (call to reserve a space)

South Dallas Cultural Center is a program of the City of Dallas Office of Cultural Affairs. All programs are subject to change without notice.

Sunday 10/5 1:30 pm

Panel Discussion: Bark Cloth in the Artist's Studio

Andy DeCaen, Fred Mutebi, Dr. Venny Nakazibwe and Lesli Robertson

UNT Art Building Room 223
1201 W Mulberry, Denton
940-565-4005

Fred Mutebi, artist and founder of Let Art Talk, Kampala, Uganda. Courtesy of the artist.

Bark cloth being stretched and drying in the sun, made by artisan Bernard Matovu, Lukaya, Uganda, 2007. Courtesy of the artist and Lesli Robertson.

Tuesday 10/7 7:30 pm

Artist's Lecture by Fred Mutebi

The Center for the Visual Arts
400 E Hickory, Denton
940-382-2787

UNT galleries

University of North Texas
1155 Union Circle #305100
Denton, Texas 76203-5017
Return Service Requested

(All events are free and open to the public)

Renewing Material and the Handmade: the Story of Ugandan Bark Cloth

Events on 10/4, 10/5 & 10/7, 2008

Organized by Lesli U. Robertson, Adjunct Professor, Fibers

Explore Ugandan material culture through one of its oldest art forms: the Baganda practice of making cloth from the bark of mutuba trees. In 2005 UNESCO named bark cloth "a masterpiece of the oral and intangible heritage of humanity." Today, scholars, business leaders and artists turn to bark cloth as a cultural and commercial resource.

Printmaker Fred Mutebi and designer/art historian Dr. Venny Nakazibwe join us from Kampala to consider the many uses of bark cloth and the value of the handmade in an extended weekend of enriching activities.

This project is supported in part by the UNT Fine Arts Series, the CVAD Gallery and Visiting Artist and Scholar Committee, the Greater Denton Arts Council and the Texas Commission on the Arts.

Nonprofit Organization
U.S. Postage
PAID
Denton, TX 76201
Permit No. 455

Gallery Hours

Tues - Wed 12-8 Thur - Sat 12-5
Summer: Tues - Sat 12-5
940-565-4005 ~ gallery.unt.edu

COLLEGE OF
VISUAL ARTS
+ DESIGN

UNT

UNIVERSITY OF
NORTH TEXAS
Discover the power of ideas.